ABOUT THE CITY.

Dr. St. Jean has recovered from his recent illness.

M. S. Green is confined to his home on West Park avenue by illness.

Constable Tracy arrested a hobo last night who couldn't tell what his name is.

Tom Gallagher, the well known Chicago journalist and one of the best posted men on sporting events that lives in America, is in this city for a brief visit.

To-night the Knights of Pythias of this city will entertain their friends at a ball in Evans hall. Excellent music has been provided and those in charge of the affair propose to make the evening one of enjoyment for all who attend.

Chief of Police Pickett yesterday arrested a fellow named McDonald, who was trying to sell an overcoat in the lower end of the city. The police say that a number of men have been selling canes, coats, shoes, caps and other goods around the outskirts of this city for some time past, and that they have a hiding place somewhere in this vicinity.

About 7 o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in one of the bedrooms of the Merrimac house on East Front street. The alarm was sent in and the fire department turned out promptly. The fire was put out, however, before the arrival of the department. Mrs. Louth, who owns the Merrimac house, said she was sure the fire was the work of an incendiary, as there was no possible way for it to start unless deliberately lighted. She also said she had a very strong suspicion as to the guilty parties. The damage done did not amount to much more than $50.

There is some talk of a big cocking main to be held here within a few weeks. A number of very fine birds are owned in Anaconda, and their owners have the money and the inclination to back them handsomely. Some sporting men in Oden have written to this city asking about the chances for a main. They say they are willing to come to Anaconda and bring anywhere from 10 to 100 birds and will pit them for prizes of any size over $200.

Then Butte, too, claims to have some cocks that can fight. There is a standing offer from people in that city for a main, and some of the Anaconda "fanciers" are talking of accepting it.

Great interest is being manifested in this city in the progress of the big six days' pedestrian contest in Butte. People in this city generally would like to see O'Leary win the race. A good number placed small bets on Hyde, the con, and they were considerably surprised that he fell out of the contest so soon. A number of gentlemen last night raised a purse of $500 to send to Butte to bet on O'Leary winning. The old man is pleasing his admirers greatly, and considering that he kept so close to the leaders the first three days it is believed that he will now come in first, as Lacourse has undoubtedly begun to grow weary in the struggle. But as Lacourse is a strong man and well trained he may disappoint those who expect him to play out. There will be a good many go from this city to see the finish on Saturday and Sunday.

In Honor of Washington.

The Delta Sigma society will hold public exercises this afternoon in honor of Washington's birthday. The following programme will be presented:

Debate—"Resolved: That Washington was the greatest man that America has produced."
 Affirmative—Mr. Barker, Miss Barnes, Mr. Baker. Negative—Mr. Davidson, Miss Redmond, Mr. Rowe.

Essay—"Life of Washington" Miss Blair.
 Concert exercise—"Our Union" Miss Wister.
 Recitation—"Lowell's 'Washington'" Miss Barnes.
 Essay—"The Modern Newspaper" Mr. Heagy.

The public is invited to attend these exercises, which will begin at 1:45 o'clock.

Messrs. Brennan & Gettings will give their regular social on Saturday evening, Feb. 20. Pupils of their dancing class and their friends are respectfully invited, as a good time is anticipated.

THEY'LL BUILD IN BUTTE

The Tuttle Manufacturing & Supply Company's Latest Plans.

THREE LARGE BUILDINGS

A Handsome and Commodious Brick Store to Be Erected on the Corner Opposite Hoge & Brownlee's Bank.

The Tuttle Manufacturing & Supply company of this city will shortly build a handsome store on the corner of Main and Quartz streets, Butte, opposite Hoge & Brownlee's bank. The building will be brick, two stories high, and substantially built. It will have a frontage of 55 feet on Main and 105 feet on Quartz street. The entire lower floor will be in one room and will be occupied by the company as a store, where an immense assortment of all kinds of shelf and heavy hardware and mining and milling machinery of all kinds will be kept for sale.

It is the company's intention to make a specialty of heavy machinery for all kinds of mining work. The work of this class already manufactured by the company in this city has given great satisfaction and the large foundry and machine shops at the eastern end of town are kept very busy filling the orders received from all parts of the Northwest.

Speaking about the proposed buildings in Butte Mr. Tuttle said last night: "We have already purchased 500,000 brick and building operations will be begun very soon. Notices will be served upon the persons now residing upon the ground, and they will vacate within 30 days. In addition to this store we will have a large up-town warehouse in close proximity, where much of our heavy stock will be stored."

"We will also build a large warehouse somewhere along the railway in the lower end of Butte. Until we can accomplish all this, however, we will use the large warehouse of the Montana Lumber & Produce company, which we have rented for a few months."

The corner upon which the new store is to be erected has long been occupied by small and unsightly shacks. To property owners in that vicinity, therefore, the announcement of the Tuttle company's plans will be received with pleasure.

There are plenty of men here who believe that Brady is a better man than Early.

QUAINT AND CURIOUS.

The average southern pine lands cut 15,000 feet of lumber to the acre.

Belgium is the first country to make hypnotizing an offense against the law of the land.

The natives of Costa Rica not only believe in mermaids, but pretend to have seen them comb their sea-green hair and try the effects of their coquetry on unwary ladies.

Lady crabs are an important article of food in the New Orleans market, but it is rarely that they are seen for sale in the North.

Die Klag ("the wail") of the Canton Tessin is the wandering spirit of a mother expiating the crime against the life of her child and appalling her hearers with the presentiment of impending evil.

Of all the creatures that God has made "under the sun," as Ecclesiastes would say, the most remarkable, as well as the most useless, is the tuatara, a species of lizard known only to exist in New Zealand.

The rate of infant mortality is enormous. In round numbers 5,000,000 babies never live long enough to talk; 5,000,000 more never have a chance to walk or run, and 5,000,000 more never get old enough to go to school.

A peculiar animal was captured in Oregon recently. It is not a coon, a polecat, a wildcat or cougar, but it looks like a combination of all four. Its teeth are long and sharp and its tail somewhat resembles a log's ear.

Thrushes and other birds crush the shells of land snails and extract their juicy bodies, as do also raccoons and wood rats, but woodland birds will not eat naked snails, because the slime on their sticks to their beaks and spoils their feathers.

The most beautiful crabs in the world are procured in the neighborhood of the Farallone islands, off the Pacific coast. They are called "red rock crabs," and specimens sometimes sell in the markets of San Francisco for from $5 to $10 each, merely for curiosities.

It is a curious fact that the "Arabian Nights" and "Anderson's Fairy Tales" have been translated into more different languages than any other books with five exceptions: The Bible, Thomas a Kempis' "Imitation of Christ," "Robinson Crusoe" and the maudlin romance of "Paul and Virginia."

The head of a cat was once thought to contain a stone that would undoubtedly have been the most wonderful and most desirable treasure of all, could it only have had a real instead of an imaginary existence, for that man who was so fortunate as to possess this precious stone would have all his wishes granted.

The number of murders in this country last year amounted to 5,306, or 1,616 more than in 1890, and 5,339 more than in 1889. The executions in 1891 numbered only 123, of which 27 took place in the North and 96 in the South. That is, one murder in 48 received capital punishment. During the same period the lynchings which outraged instead of avenged the law, numbered 195, or 68 more than in any previous year.

An Argentine physician, M. Serger, states that the mussels are seldom injured at the time of maximum growth, which corresponds with full moon, but that they become poor and often poisonous as the moon wanes. During this period many of the mollusks die, and the survivors seem to absorb the products of the putrefaction of their bodies. In consequence a form of liver complaint is common among the native consumers of mussels.

Up to within a few years the Indians of Alaska were accustomed to express their grief for the death of any important personage by human sacrifices, and the same practice is largely followed in some parts of Africa. At funerals of the chiefs of the Florida and Carolina Indians in former times all the wives of the defunct and his male relatives also were slain.

In the neighborhood of the Bermudas the sea is extremely transparent, so that the fishermen can readily see the horns of lobsters protruding from their hiding places in the rocks at considerable depths. To entice the crustaceans from these crannies they tie a lot of snails in a ball and dangle them in front of the cautious lobster. When he grabs the ball they haul him up.

In a catalogue of Mexican meteorites prepared by M. Antonio del Castillo, one mass is mentioned which exploded in the air and fell in widely dispersed fragments, portions of it being found in three places at the angles of a triangle whose two longer sides were some 55 and 35 miles in length. In one of these places two plates of stone were discovered, lying 250 yards apart, which had evidently once formed one huge block. Measurements and estimations place the combined weight of the two blocks at 80 tons. In this one shower of "moon stones," according to M. del Castillo's paper, not less than 3,000 tons of
